VOLUNTEERS WORK TO IMPROVE FAIRVIEW

Spring Day of Care

Volunteers in Fairview for Spring Day of Caring - United Way - June 1, 2007

ANCHORAGE – The United Way is celebrating 50-years of service and on Friday, during their Spring Day of Care, the group teamed up with city workers to put on a community service event and to lend a helping hand to the folks of Fairview.

The United Way held their Spring Day of Care, by assisting at the Fairview community center, and at three Fairview parks. Volunteers from more than ten local companies spent the day planting trees and pulling weeds, all an effort to make the parks safer, more accessible and nicer for families to use.

A new community garden and a larger community Pavilion are also in the making and the volunteers said that it is no coincidence that they are working on this part of town.

“The Fairview community is one of the communities in town that they have a lot of young families, they have a lot of children, they really use their parks. This particular part of their city has been going through a lot of rejuvenation, and we just felt that this was probably one of the best areas that we could get together as a community and make it, make a difference,” said Cindy Curtis, the Chair of the Day of Caring Committee.

Volunteers of the event will continue their work until Saturday evening.
